1832 which later became the Société homéopathique Gallicane. It is in our capital that François Guizot, Minister of Education of Louis-Philippe, uttered these words about formalising or not the Homœopathic Society of Paris (to which the Academy of Medicine was opposed): ‘If homœopathy is a chimera, it will fall by itself.’

The hospitable city of Paris welcomes you. Centuries of cultural and political development led to the creation of a wide variety of museums, theatres, monuments and architectural styles. Many of its masterpieces such as the Louvre, Notre-Dame, the Arc de Triomphe and its internationally recognised symbol, the Eiffel Tower are iconic buildings. More than 180 museums and monuments are there for you to discover!

On behalf of the Scientific Committee, the Welcome Committee and all French colleagues, we wish you a very instructive 69th LMHI Congress and unforgettable days in Paris.

Philippe Servais
President of the 69th LMHI Congress

Dear colleagues and friends,

The French Homoeopathic Medical Doctors and the members of the Organizing and Scientific Committees take great pleasure in welcoming you to the 69th Liga Medicorum Homoeopathica Internationalis (LMHI) Congress on 16 – 19 July 2014. This 69th edition of the LMHI Congress takes place in Paris, the City of Light and of the Enlightenment, and the last residence of our common Master, Samuel Hahnemann.

The central theme of this year’s congress is: Homœopathy on the move
Strategies and Levels of Healing

We are pleased to present a well-balanced programme. The quality of the presentations has been scrutinised by the Scientific Committee, looking at two aspects: the level of scientific evidence and the correspondence to the congress theme. Other topics will be dealt with as well, so that all can express themselves: epidemiology, basic research, provings, doctrine and philosophy, history, etc.

Colleagues coming from 48 (!) countries are participating in this congress.

Homœopathy has a long tradition in France. When Hahnemann moved to Paris in 1835, fifty homœopaths were already working in France. Parisian consultations of Antoine Petroz and Auguste-Paul Cure had great success. A friend of the master, Sebastian Guidi founded the Société homéopathique Lyonnaise in 1832 which later became the Société homéopathique Gallicane.

It is in our capital that François Guizot, Minister of Education of Louis-Philippe, uttered these words about formalising or not the Homoeopathic Society of Paris (to which the Academy of Medicine was opposed): ‘If homoeopathy is a chimera, it will fall by itself.’

08.30 Immunomodulation et synergie thérapeutique
Lourdes Reig, Consell, Espagne

Immunomodulation is a multifaceted action, requiring its act on different pathways of internal signaling including axes such as function, ecology, and the immune system. The optimal immunomodulation depends on a therapeutic strategy based on the synergistic actions between different pathways.

Gerhard Hubtmann, Vienna, Austria

My therapeutic strategy combines single homeopathic remedies (constitutional therapy, specific therapy) and the support of the lymphatic system. With complex homeopathic remedies I address the basic mechanisms of cancer. After description of Micro-Immunotherapy remedies SC1, SC2, SC3, SC4, special focus on patients suffering from lymphatic cancer. Specific approaches that support the organ system) with complex homeopathic remedies - shows an improvement in the condition of these patients.

Cristina Zemba-Vieytes, Barcelone, Spain

Allergic increase of antibody specific signals, IgG, IgE, IgM, in patients suffering from cancer, develop through the immune system leads to a failure of the immune system. Micro-immunotherapy uses cytokines, chemokines, growth factors, specific nucleic acids in different immune actions. Documented clinical cases, fast and lasting results.

Treatment with a cytokine combination, at very low doses (Microimmunotherapy), totally reduce the problem of tooth demineralization and caries phenomenon after a three months treatment of BMP2 and BMP4 protein.

12.00 Multiple sclerosis
Renate Schelz, Graz, Austria

Multiple sclerosis is an autoimmune disease. The genetic predisposition allows this disease to be triggered by a variety of causative factors. The disease is characterized by an autoimmune destruction of myelin sheaths by lymphocytes and antibodies, which causes destruction of nerve cells, inflammation and attempts of repair. Microimmunotherapy acts on different genetic processes, decreases of antibody, decreases of inflammation, support of virus death.

12.20 Intérêt de la micro immunothérapie dans le domaine dentaire action sur le processus carieux des protéines BMP2 & 4
